Report Highlights:

The U.S.-Japan Trade Agreement (USJTA) entered Year 5 of the agreement implementation on April 1, 2023. This report is one in a series of product briefs highlighting the tariff benefits for specific commodities and products from Year 5 (2023) to Year 7 (2025) of the Agreement. Additional information is available at www.usdajapan.org/usjta/.

Overview: In 2022, the United States exported over $30 million of oil and non-dairy fat products to Japan, making Japan the #21 overseas market. The United States accounted for over two percent of Japan’s total imports of edible non-dairy fats and oils. The years below correspond to Japan’s fiscal year beginning April 1.

Market Considerations: Japan’s fat and oil market is price-driven. While imports of oilseeds are generally duty-free, oil imports have been subject to special tariffs. Therefore, most vegetable oil has been produced from imported oilseeds crushed in Japan. Exceptions include palm, coconut and olive oils which are tariff-free and have seen imports increase over the past 20 years. The growing market share of non-traditional vegetable oils reflects growing health consciousness of Japanese consumers. Imports of animal fats have been stable.
